

The Shooting of Matthew Eddy.

The Coroner held an inquest yesterday afternoon in the case of Matthew T. Eddy, the proprietor of the Amateur House, who was shot by Harry Huff Sunday night.

The autopsy showed that death had resulted from internal hemorrhage, and that the bullet in its passage through the body perforated the lower portion of the intestines and the right kidney. Twenty-four ounces of coagulated blood were found in the abdominal cavity.

The testimony of several witnesses went to show that Eddy, who was a very large, stout man, had attacked Huff, who was disorderly in the room of an inmate of the house; that Eddy beat Huff and ejected him from the room; that Huff ran down stairs, and, stopping at the foot, turned to Eddy, who was leaning over the banisters, looking down, and challenged him to come down and he would give him what he wanted. The shots were fired immediately afterward. Huff had two ribs broken in the scuffle.

A verdict charging Huff with manslaughter was returned.
